Dear Parents and Carers,

Update re power supply to the school

Many of you will have seen the markings that have been sprayed onto the ground near the entrance to the school. The council will be digging trenches in this area this weekend in preparation for the restoration of the power supply to the school. The trenches will be behind fencing and will be covered, so the area will be safe when your children come back to school on Monday.

UKPN will then carry out the works needed to restore the power supply to the school during the half term holiday. The power should have been restored completely when the children come back after half term, but the generator will still be here. That is not scheduled to be removed until the weekend after we come back from the break.

We have been assured that there is plenty of time during half term to do all the work that is needed. If there are any problems, and it looks like it won't be finished on time, work will stop, the site will be made completely safe and no more work will happen until the summer holiday.

Thank you again for your patience.

Yours faithfully,

Guy Fairbairn
Headteacher
